Campus Directory
Welcome New Parents and Families,

College is a time of growth in your student’s academic pursuits, personal development and spiritual formation. The role you have in your student’s life plays an integral part in the success they will have on campus. We look forward to partnering with you in that endeavor!

We know that this is one of the last partnerships you will have in parenting your student. With this resource guide, we hope to explain the expectations and role that you and the university will have in serving your student together.

There are three sections for you to explore: Parent and Family Programs, Academic Success and Campus Involvement. After each section, there will be a list of important conversations for you to have with your student. This is by no means an exhaustive guide including every detail. However, we will do our best to equip you with information on the GCU Family Communication Portal.

We invite you to encourage your student to take advantage of the many opportunities offered to get involved at the beginning of the semester. We encourage residents to stay on campus over the first few weekends and commuters to stay beyond their class times. This extra time on campus will enable your student to connect to our Lope Family quickly. Please read the Student Resource Guide with your student and visit gcu.edu/family to look for ways that you can be involved as part of our extended Lope Family.

We pray that this year brings many blessings and we look forward to seeing you on campus!

Grand Canyon University
A – Available, not Annoying
You and your student are embarking on your new normal. Part of that transition will involve less time together, whether your student is living on campus or commuting from home. Allow your student to embrace the independence that college life brings. Make a communication plan with your student that meets the needs of everyone. Let them know that you are available to talk but resist the urge to reach out more than you’ve agreed, as this can be perceived as annoying.

B – Believing, not Belittling
As parents and family members, you will know a lot of the right answers. As young adults, our students will not. They simply have not lived long enough to have had the time to know. College life allows both the space and the time to make decisions, big or small. Trust your student. Walk with them in their choices, believing in them. The confidence gained through that experience will last forever.

C – Communicating, not Controlling
Communication is crucial for the success of your student. They will need to advocate for themselves in the classroom, in their living situations, with friends and with family members. Conversations and discussions will help your student on their path to adulthood, whereas the desire to control your student’s decisions or environment will hinder them.
PARENT EXPECTATIONS

Parenting a college student is different than parenting a high school student. As you read the chart below, your main contribution will comprise of supporting, coaching and role playing with your student as they will be responsible for their academics, finances and personal choices.

Dear GCU Parent,

We welcome you and your family to Grand Canyon University! College is an exciting time filled with new opportunities and significant growth. Your loved one is experiencing social, emotional and academic development as they fully transition into adulthood. During this time, research indicates that it is vital that your student develops the ability to think independently, proactively seek out healthy relationships and learn how to effectively navigate life obstacles largely on their own.

Because of this, students own their academic experience and GCU encourages parents to promote their student’s maturity and independence while in college to prepare for the workforce. Just as your student’s future boss will not call you to discuss their performance, neither will university faculty and staff. In most cases, you will hear about your student’s experiences directly from them. If your student does not know where to initiate the dialogue, their student services counselor (SSC) is the best starting point.

While at GCU, your student is responsible for their own academic, personal and spiritual growth. We look forward to working with them as they foster and develop these important life skills. We believe that the more familiar parents are with college, the more you will be prepared to help your student effectively navigate their time at GCU. Our goal is to provide you with helpful information that will assist you in supporting your student’s success.

Congratulations to you and your student’s achievement of this amazing milestone!

Welcome to Lope Country. Go Lopes!

Dr. Jennifer Lech
Director of Admissions
STUDENT SERVICES COUNSELOR
Student services counselors or SSCs are responsible for all aspects of your student’s scheduling and financial advising needs. They counsel on university policies and procedures, as well as ensure your student’s academic journey is successful and timely. Your student can make inquiries related to their schedules and finances with their assigned counselor. Your student will be able to find their SSC’s contact information in their GCU Student Portal.

PARENT CODE OF CONDUCT
While we anticipate that your student will be the primary point of contact while conducting business within the university, there may be situations which you participate in meetings with your son or daughter and university staff. Please remember, any person (including a parent or guardian or other third-party representative) is expected to act in an appropriate, courteous and professional manner toward university staff, faculty and other students. To promote a positive and productive educational environment, the following is a non-exhaustive list of behaviors which will not be tolerated:

► Disruptive behavior which interferes with normal operation of the university, including but not limited to: multiple and repeated phone calls to university staff without allowing for a reasonable response time of 48 business hours to return a call to the student.
► The use of hostile or offensive language, such as swearing or displaying an excessive amount of anger and aggression in person, on the phone or through any electronic means.
► Failure to comply with a reasonable directive from a faculty member or university representative.
► Threatening a member of the GCU community including physical violence, job status or any other way meant to intimidate to achieve a desired outcome.
► Accessing a student’s portal, online classroom, physical classroom or any other system designed exclusively for student information and engagement.
► Completing a document for a student.

The university reserves the right to discontinue communication with those who engage in inappropriate, threatening or other unprofessional conduct toward a university representative. This includes ceasing all written, voice-to-voice and in-person interactions, regardless of whether a Student Information Release Form (SIRF) is on file. The university will continue to release education records to a person authorized on the SIRF form, recognizing that a release of records generally comes in the form of a paper document and does not provide permission for staff to discuss the document or any other part of the student’s education record.

FERPA
Grand Canyon University is committed to protecting the privacy of your student’s records. Under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), students who reach the age of 18, or who attend a postsecondary institution, are afforded the right to privacy as it pertains to their education record and have some control of the disclosure of information from these records. Although your student may opt to share certain information with you by completing the SIRF, parents are not automatically granted access to a student’s records.
A SIRF permits the university to release a copy of an education record to an authorized third party such as a parent. However, it does not authorize a GCU staff member to have discussions about any portion of the student’s education record or for the authorized person to take action on the account. A record is generally released as a paper document or digitally through the Parent Portal if applicable and with appropriate permissions.

TITLE IX: OUR COMMITMENT

GCU is committed to providing an environment free from discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex or gender. This includes pregnancy and/or disability discrimination based upon complications related to pregnancy. The university’s Title IX policy and procedures, which can be found at gcu.edu/TitleIX, provide for a prompt and equitable response to reports of sexual misconduct.

CONSENT

Consent is an understandable exchange of affirmative words or actions, as long as those words or actions create mutually understandable clear permission regarding willingness to engage in (and the conditions of) sexual activity. Any sexual encounter that occurs without consent is in violation of GCU’s Title IX Policy. If force, coercion or intimidation are used to gain consent, there is no valid consent. If a person is incapacitated, they cannot give consent. Silence does not necessarily constitute consent.

ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Academic support services and resources aren’t just for students who may be struggling. Seeking out academic support is a smart decision for your student regardless of their level of academic performance. GCU’s various academic and career support services can help your student with time management, research help, resume building, career guidance and subject specific academic assistance.

In addition to class time, GCU faculty are available to meet with your student through office hours, email or phone. GCU faculty are committed advisors who are dedicated to helping your student grow academically, spiritually and personally.

ACADEMIC AND CAREER EXCELLENCE (ACE)

GCU has ACE Centers located throughout campus for ground students. These centers are available to support students from start to finish and help them get the most out of their college experience. Our academic resources include peer-to-peer support by ACE advisors, personalized success planning and coaching by our student success specialist, academic planning resources, After Dark Series drop-in support, exam review sessions and the online Student Success Center. Our career support services help students build career portfolios and professional skills while connecting them with employment opportunities and industry representatives.

FIRST YEAR EXPERIENCE

GCU also offers support for all new-to-GCU students, regardless of class level. The First Year Experience (FYE) team is available to support students’ academic transition to university-level learning. The FYE team is comprised of FYE LEADs who will meet with students one-on-one about their transition to GCU and help get them connected with the appropriate resources for their needs.

Additionally, a virtual FYE roadmap is available to help your student gain strategies on how to be a successful student and connect with all the resources on campus. The first year can be challenging and it is common to feel overwhelmed when making the transition to college. The FYE ACE Center is located on the 1st floor of Willow Hall, Building 81.

As a parent, you can help promote the GCU academic support services that are available to your student through the ACE Centers, GCU Library and Student Disability Services.

FAQ – ACCESS TO STUDENT INFORMATION

► Do I have the right to my student’s records if I am paying their tuition?
At the postsecondary level, parents have no inherent rights to their student’s education records, regardless of whether they are paying for the student’s education. This means you may not obtain your student’s education records, including grades, unless your student provides their consent through a signed SIRF form.

► Will I be contacted if my student is facing academic or disciplinary action?
In most cases, GCU will not contact you to provide any information related to academic or disciplinary actions. FERPA regulations allow, but do not require, parent notification if an underage student violates alcohol or drug policies. As part of the student conduct sanctioning process, parents are generally notified if their underage student is in violation of alcohol or drug policies.

► Can I log in to my student’s classroom or otherwise use their login and password?
A SIRF release does not grant permission to log in or otherwise access university systems on behalf of the student. This is considered a violation of the Student Code of Conduct, regardless of whether SIRF authorization is on file. If the university is notified that anyone other than the authorized student accesses their online classroom or any other system, the student will be charged with a code of conduct violation.

► What if my student receives a bad grade?
You should not contact your student’s faculty. Instead, encourage your student to discuss their grade and academic performance with their faculty directly. Students who discuss their academic performance with their faculty directly can often resolve any issues and receive excellent guidance for improving their performance. In addition, if your student needs to discuss their academic path or course selections, remind your student to reach out to their SSC.
Dear GCU Family Member,

Congratulations on your student’s commitment to Grand Canyon University! I would like to personally welcome you to the Lope Family and to your new role as the parent or family member of a GCU student. Throughout their life, you have served an integral role in your student’s success and growth and much of who they are is because of your support and investment. I hope you will continue encouraging your student on their path to adulthood through the commitment to academic success, the formation of new relationships, the engagement in activities on campus and their continued development into the person that the Lord desires them to be.

It is the goal of Student Affairs to provide relevant co-curricular programs that support students in their academic journeys. I hope your student will be encouraged by the many traditions and activities that GCU offers, including the numerous clubs, campus ministries, Life Groups and countless others. Our programs and activities are intentionally designed to reflect our joint commitment to the growth and success of your student. Their experience is what they choose to make it. I invite you to encourage them to step out of their comfort zones, especially in the first six weeks of their time on campus.

Whether your student will be living on campus or commuting, our professional staff and student leaders are committed to facilitating meaningful engagement. I hope your student will not only enjoy the unique culture at GCU but will commit to upholding the community standards and to making a constructive contribution to our thriving culture. It is the responsibility of every student, staff, faculty and guest to help maintain a positive and safe learning environment.

Up to this point, you have been the primary advocate for your student, but they will soon learn to build upon the foundation you’ve laid for pursuing solutions and resolving conflicts. We look forward to partnering with you as your student learns to advocate for their own needs in a healthy and productive way. Rest assured that the safety, care and well-being of your student is Grand Canyon’s highest priority.

It is our honor and privilege to walk alongside your student, helping them achieve goals and encouraging the use of their gifts to serve each other and the surrounding community. When your student walks across the stage at their commencement ceremony, it is my hope that they have not only earned a degree but have gained the maturity and readiness to lead a life of purpose both personally and professionally.

We are excited to have you as GCU family and the invitation to campus connection extends to you as well. Please visit gcu.edu/family to learn more about opportunities for you to be involved.

COMMUNITY STANDARDS

GCU is first and foremost a Christian university and, as such, upholds a commitment to maintaining an atmosphere on campus that honors God. While students do not have to sign a Statement of Faith or be a Christian to attend GCU, they are expected to abide by the community standards. Violating any of the Community Standards below may subject the student to the Student Conduct Process.

► Civility and Respect: It is expected that all students demonstrate mutual respect and courtesy to one another, faculty and staff. Physical abuse, verbal abuse, bullying, threats, intimidation, harassment, coercion, retaliation, including social media and/or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person will not be tolerated.

 ► Alcohol and Drugs: GCU is a dry campus, which means alcohol, bottles, cans, containers (filled/empty) and paraphernalia are prohibited. Consumption or storage of drugs or alcohol is a violation.

 ► Smoking and Electronic Smoking Devices: E-cigarettes, vape pens and accessories and/or other legal smoking devices are allowed in designated areas on campus, but not in residential living areas.

 ► Fire Alarm Policy: Any student and their guests who do not immediately evacuate any living space once a fire alarm is sounded will be fined $250. Any student and/or suitemates that activate the fire alarm may be required to take an educational class on fire safety.

 ► Failure to Comply: It is expected for students to promptly comply with a reasonable university directive.

 ► Visitation: GCU has a visitation policy that helps ensure living areas are safe and comfortable for all students on campus.

 ► Weapons and Firearms: Students possessing a firearm on campus are subject to immediate expulsion from the university and the expulsion is not subject to appeal. Law enforcement officers, on or off duty, are exempt from this provision.

UNIVERSITY CODE OF CONDUCT PROCESS

Academic integrity is at the heart of GCU’s values and is integral to our university community. All students are expected to possess a high standard of conduct and personal integrity in the classroom and beyond. It is the responsibility of all GCU students to be familiar with the specific policies pertaining to student conduct and academic integrity that are outlined in the University Policy Handbook.

STUDENT CONDUCT PROCESS

As a Christian university, GCU strives to offer loving accountability and to be redemptive in its approach to students who have violated the community standards. Residence Life’s Student Conduct Process addresses such concerns. Decisions made by the Student Conduct office will be final, pending the normal appeal process. With any student conduct procedure, students are not permitted to be accompanied by third parties or attorneys and may not document the hearing by the use of a recording device.
The determination of a student conduct violation is made on the basis of the preponderance of the evidence, whether it is more likely than not that the student violated the community standards. Sanctions for Student Conduct violations range from mediation with both parties, up to removal from housing. The determined sanction will depend on the severity of the offense, as well as the student's conduct history.

Appeals of student conduct sanctions are only accepted within 72 hours of when they are informed of the decision.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Our 24-hour security staff includes certified police officers, uniformed security guards at each point of entry and a dispatch center to coordinate security efforts. In addition, GCU has partnered with the Phoenix Police Department on a neighborhood safety initiative to create a positive impact in the community surrounding GCU.

► In the event of an emergency, call 911.
► For assistance from Public Safety, call 602-639-8100.
► For non-emergency, general questions and more information, email security@gcu.edu.

SAFETY RESOURCES

► Emergency Notification System: GCU uses an emergency notification system to communicate time-sensitive information during an emergency to the campus community. Students can update their contact information to receive alerts through their Student Portal or by contacting their SSC.
► Online TIPS Reporting: If you or your student witnesses or is aware of a potential risk to another student, faculty or staff member, you may file a report through our online TIPS reporting tool. The appropriate university department will investigate all reports. Your information will remain confidential and you have the option to submit the form anonymously. Access to the TIPS incident reporting tool can be found at gcu.edu/PublicSafety
► Emergency Blue Light Phones: In the event of a safety concern or suspicious activity, students or campus guests can use the blue light phones found around campus. Safety officers always respond to campus emergencies.
DEPARTMENT OF STUDENT CARE

College presents a host of new responsibilities and challenges for students. As a result, your student may experience a mix of emotional reactions and may need some support to navigate some of the new stressors in their life. GCU is committed to supporting its students emotionally and academically. If your student is struggling, refer them to the Department of Student Care where they can be connected to counseling and support groups located on the 2nd floor of the Student Life Building.

Students commonly struggle with: Life changes, feeling homesick, anxiety and stress, relationships, self-esteem, depression, substance use, problems with eating and body image and grief/loss.

STUDENT CARE OFFERS

► Free counseling services for all traditional campus undergraduate students.
► Psychoeducation, group counseling, brief and solution-focused individual counseling, crisis counseling and outside referral consultation.
► Weekly gatherings that vary from semester to semester. The most popular offerings include groups centered on relationships, anxiety/stress, yoga, resiliency, grief/loss and coping skills.

RESIDENCE LIFE
The Department of Residence Life provides a co-curricular experience for students through a community learning plan led by student leaders. We strive to help students living in university housing become Christ-like servant leaders though an awareness of self and engagement with others.

ROOMMATE CONFLICTS
Open and ongoing communication is the key to your student establishing and maintaining a positive and successful roommate relationship. Talk with your student ahead of time regarding roommate expectations, how to be flexible and how to proactively approach conflict. It will help your student be prepared to navigate their roommate relationships. For most students, this is their first time sharing a room and learning to live with someone who is not a member of their family. When a roommate conflict arises, the conflict will be resolved through the structure of the roommate conflict resolution process. The university has a very specific educational conflict resolution process. This process is used in campus housing university-wide.

Roommate conflicts are normal and healthy for students and are a very common part of your student learning to live autonomously. As their parent/family member, you will often be their first call when faced with the challenges of roommate conflict. When interfacing with your student about roommate conflict, it’s helpful to:

► Remain calm.
► Listen and ask questions to understand what they are experiencing.
► Filter out your own emotions about the situation.
► Encourage your student to talk it out with their roommate(s).

Most conflicts result from a lack of communication between roommates. Remind your student that as a member of the residential community, they are guaranteed a safe, but not always comfortable, living environment. Encourage them to talk with their resident assistant (RA) for more assistance as GCU practices a three-step conflict resolution process. Remind your student that if the RA is unaware of the conflict, they are not able to step in and help give your student the tools to help resolve their conflict. Lastly, remind your student that conflict resolution does not happen overnight!
CONFLICT RESOLUTION: Before you talk...

SELF-REFLECTION
Your actions may make the problem worse. Pay attention to your presence. What does your body language communicate? Avoid eye rolls and crossed arms.

PERSPECTIVE
Put yourself in your roommate’s shoes. How would you approach this conflict if you were them?

STATE OF MIND
Prepare yourself to enter the mediation in a calm, solution-oriented state of mind. Reflect on how you have contributed to the conflict.

When you talk...

LISTEN AND CLARIFY
Listen to what your roommate is saying and clarify with questions like, “What I am hearing is that you want me to take out the garbage once a week?”

AGREE
Find something to agree on. The conflict cannot be resolved until the issue is recognized.

ASK QUESTIONS
Ask questions like, “Why is this bothering you?” to understand your roommate’s perspective.

TONE OF VOICE
Roommate conflict can be emotionally charged. Use statements like, “I feel frustrated when…” to talk about conflict.

Moving forward...

SUGGEST SOLUTIONS
Suggest solutions and listen while your roommate does the same thing. You and your roommate don’t have to be friends to live together.

AGREE ON NEXT STEPS
Create a plan to prevent the same conflict from repeating. This will require flexibility and compromise. What will you do if a different conflict arises?

CHECK IN
Ask intentional questions like, “Was I making too much noise last night?” Encourage each other to communicate as you learn to live together.

SPRITUAL LIFE
The Department of Spiritual Life exists to support students by providing spiritual formation opportunities throughout a student’s college experience. We organize worship services, small groups and ongoing outreach ministries.

Chapel, The Gathering and Sanctuary are three weekly worship services where GCU students, faculty and staff gather to hear teachings from the Bible and worship together. Worship is led by GCU students and speakers come from a variety of local churches and Christian organizations. Both Chapel and The Gathering can be viewed live online on the GCU YouTube Channel.

Students are encouraged to visit the Spiritual Life office to learn about programs and opportunities, pray or talk with staff and student leaders and pick up a free Bible!

FAQ– PARENTING FROM AFAR

► What do I do when my student calls home homesick?
  Assure your student that they are perfectly normal and that you miss them, too. Remind them of all the reasons they chose to attend GCU and how you are so proud of them.

► Will I be notified if my student is sick or hurt?
  Parents are generally not notified if their student becomes sick or injured. However, in some emergency circumstances, such as a determination that a student is a danger to themselves or others, GCU will contact the student’s listed emergency contact.

► Will I be notified if my student is charged with a violation of the Code of Conduct?
  Parents do not receive notice from the university when conduct violations have been alleged against their students, although your student may choose to disclose this information to you. The proceedings and related documentation are confidential and are considered part of the student’s education record, which is protected under FERPA.

► Can I call or meet with someone on my student’s behalf or otherwise receive information about the Code of Conduct process?
  Even if appropriate authorization has been designated to you through the SIRF process, FERPA is for release of records only and does not allow the authorized person to have discussions with GCU staff or take action on the account. Students are expected to act on their own behalf for all facets of their academic business, including conduct-related proceedings. Detailed information about the process is located in the University Policy Handbook.

► Can I be present in the Code of Conduct conference?
  Students are not entitled to representation by any third party, personal representative or attorney in the university disciplinary process.
Can my student appeal the Code of Conduct decision?
A student can submit an appeal utilizing the university appeal procedures as outlined in the University Policy Handbook. However, there must be sufficient documentation to warrant submitting the appeal, as it is important to remember that disagreement with the decision does not justify submission of an appeal.

Will I be notified if my student is charged with a community standard violation with Student Conduct?
You will be notified if your student has been held responsible for violating the alcohol or drug community standard and is under the age of 21. Other violations do not require a parental contact.

What can I do as a parent if I have concerns regarding my student’s mental health?
If you believe your student is in immediate psychological danger, call Public Safety at 602-639-8100 describing the nature of your concern and a Wellness Check will be conducted immediately. Licensed therapists in the Office of Student Care provide short-term, solution-focused counseling support and as a result, it is not recommended that Student Care be used as a part of post-hospitalization or post-inpatient facility aftercare plan. Student Care builds daily crisis availability into their scheduling, but in the event that it is determined a student requires more consistent and ongoing clinical support that can be provided under their scope of practice, the student will receive a listing of preferred community providers to pursue locally (including low-cost options). Learn more about Student Care for parents.
MAIL CENTER

Receiving care packages, birthday cards and other surprises in the mail at GCU is easy! The information below is a brief overview of our procedures and policies. Read the GCU Mail Agreement for further details. All students are required to read and sign up for the GCU Mail Agreement in their Housing Portal.

Package Pick-Up

► Students will be notified via their GCU email address (@my.gcu.edu) when their package is ready for pick up. Students should not come into the Mail Center unless they received a notification.
► Students are required to scan their GCU-issued ID (same as for dining dollars) when picking up packages. If you are using your mobile ID, please make sure it includes a photo.
► Students who cannot pick up their packages may authorize someone else to do so. The student must send the authorization via email to MailCenter@gcu.edu including the authorized person’s full name.
► Students must use their own means to transport anything from the Mail Center to their living area. Dollies and golf carts will not be provided or available to loan out.

Receiving Mail

► Each student living on campus will be assigned a mailbox. Fall students will receive their mailbox key upon move-in. Please note that if a mailbox key is not received upon move-in, it is the student’s responsibility to come to the Mail Center to request one (within a month of move-in).
► Students will not receive a notification when mail is put into the mailbox. Mail will be put out regularly. It is the student’s responsibility to check their mailbox.

First Name - Middle Initial - Last Name (No nicknames)
Mailbox Number (Optional)
3300 W. Camelback Road
Phoenix, AZ 85017

Do not write “P.O. Box.” Make sure that the writing is legible and is not missing any pertinent information, this may result in a delay.

► Tracking: We highly recommend the use of tracking on all important packages as documents. If the package doesn’t have tracking, there is no way of knowing if it has been delivered to us.
► Non-Residents/Commuters: If you do not live on campus, you will NOT be able to receive packages/mail. You can, however, send out packages at the Mail Center. You can also utilize the Amazon lockers located throughout campus.
► Amazon Locker Locations: There are four Amazon lockers at GCU available to all students 24 hours a day. GCU Mail Center does not operate Amazon lockers. Please contact Amazon directly for questions about Amazon locker packages.
