STUDENT CONDUCT

GCU students are required to treat each other, faculty and staff with courtesy and respect at all times. Each individual plays a role in developing a harmonious campus community and as such is held to the standards outlined in the University Policy Handbook.

COMMUNITY STANDARDS

GCU is first and foremost a Christian university and as such upholds a commitment to maintaining an environment on campus that honors God. While students do not have to sign a Statement of Faith or be a Christian to attend GCU, they are expected to abide by the Community Standards. College of Theology students are required to affirm additional standards. Please consult the University Policy Handbook for information. The Community Standards uphold certain university values that are believed to enhance the overall moral fabric of the community.

The Community Standards identify essential values that GCU students are expected to exhibit in their interactions with one another, faculty and staff. Our expectation is that students reflect what is known as the "fruits of the Spirit" in their behavior. This includes demonstrating love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. Our vision is that students strive to treat others as they would want to be treated.

COMMUNITY EXPECTATIONS

Our goal is to develop a community based on the biblical principles of respect and honor. We as community members strive to encourage one another, respect one another's differences, speak truthfully and create lasting relationships. We understand that these actions are most possible as a result of choosing to put others above ourselves and to look out for the interests of others.

UNIVERSITY EXPECTATIONS

More specifically, the GCU Community Standards include, but are not limited to the following:

1. All students comply with the university policies as a matter of respect for the community as a whole.
2. All students demonstrate mutual respect and courtesy to one another, faculty and staff. Physical abuse, verbal abuse, threats, intimidation, harassment coercion and/or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health and safety of any person will not be tolerated.
3. GCU is committed to maintaining a drug and alcohol-free community. Being under the influence of, using, possession of or distributing illegal drugs or possessing drug paraphernalia on campus or at university-sanctioned events will not be tolerated. Failure to comply with these policies will result in police involvement as well as university sanctions.
4. GCU also maintains a dry campus and as such alcohol is not permitted on GCU property. Consuming or possessing alcohol on campus, engaging in under-age drinking, providing alcohol to minors, disorderly or dangerous conduct due to intoxication or driving under the influence are strictly prohibited. Violations of the alcohol policy will be taken seriously and consequences include university sanctions and police involvement if under-age consumption or serving is involved.
5. Guests are the responsibility of the student who is hosting them. Their actions and behavior are viewed as the actions and behavior of the student host.
